Foreign competition is a stimulant which may be oppressive for a manufacturing country in its infancy a country in a stage of development like France. This simulant is required by several branches of national labor, and it is time that they should possess it. That a certain moderation be displayed at the commencement is certain moderation be displayed at the commencement a reasonable; but the great wall of China has no moderation—It is a supreme exaggration, something that is required in the same time to the sentiments and to the nervests of Europe. In 1848, the State powers, after a rolemn discussion, refused, with perfect justice, to recognise the rights of labor demanded by the workmen, annot be granted to the head of manufactories. Some country. The rights of labor, denied to the workmen, cannot be granted to the head of manufactories. Some come has a right to be protected, namely, the bublic, a personnge tolerably inactive, who does not draw up pertitions, and is not producal of official steps and solicita.

The public has at length the right of being freed from the dues levied through the customs tarill by heads of manufactories, who are after all private individuals like ourselves. We humbly pettion that the proposed in quiry shall likewise be directed towards the protection of that public, a protection which we believe to be the most legitimate of all.

that public, a protection which we believe to be the most legitimate of all.

The English Board of Trade Returns.

[From the Liverpool Telegraph, July 29.]

The Board of Trade returns for the past month have just been issued, and are again of a very favorable character, the unusually large increase being shown of £2, 492 in the declared value of our exportations as compared with the menth of June, 1855. Not a slugic item of any amount appears on the adverse side to lessen the public gratification as the announcement of the progress sive prosperity of the country.

Cotton manufactures figure for an increase of £707.798, haberdashery and millinery, £104.618, linen manufactures, £620.520 metals, $423.277, slik, thrown, £77.835, woollen manufactures, £321.852, cotton yarn, £04.574, hardware and cutlery, £85.858, slik manufactures, £621.301, sugar, refined, $98.356, other articles of minor importance, and which we need not enumerate, swelling up the grand total in the increase of exportations as compared with June, £855, of £2.302.492.

We would direct especial attention to the fact that umong other articles of export which present a great increase, those which depend upon the Australian and general colonial trace faure the chief. No doubt much of this may be attributed apart from increased emigation, to the lines of steamers that private enterprise is establishing between this country and her numerous colonies, and it is only to be heped that what promises so much of lasting prosperity to our countryment in our colonies and at home will be further enlarged on a secure and, to make it permanent, as it ought to be, remunerative benefit.

Turning to imported commodities we find as a natural consequence increased exportations and strady employment of the working classes, that the totals are also satisfactory. Of breadstuffs the supplies have been to an average extent, and there has been a full consumption of provisions, tea, sugar, rice, spirits, wine, tobacco and spices. Of eggs 14,630,660 were taken for consumption o

It is said that the King of Saxony will be present at the ntemplated interview between the King of Prussia and the Emperor of Austria, at Toplitz.

A communication from Stockholm speaks of the audiences which the French and Prussian Ambassadors had with the King, and of great stir amongst the diplomatists, consequent on these audiences. Report says the subject of excitement was a reclamation made by Norway against the Russians, who, it is alleged, are encroaching upon the Norwegian territory, and planning fortifications along the Baltic coast. The Swedish papers, however, make no allusion to the matter.

The rumor recently circulated that the King of the Bel

TURKEY. Generals Codrington and the Admiral and their staff had visited the Sultan. It is reported that the refusal of the Russians to give up Kars is explained. The English Commissioner whom the Russians refused to receive had no authority to ask possession, and did not do so. He merely requested permission to examine the state of the fortifications, which he was not permitted to do. Respecting Russian occupation of the isle of Seppents, Lord Stratford de Redcliffe has sent General Mansfield to inquire in regard to it.

The Daily News city article of Friday evening says:-The Daily News city article of Friday evening says:—
The stringency of the money market continues. In the Stock Exchange, today, geney was in active demand, at 5 per cent on government securities. In the discount market there was also considerable pressure, and the rates for government bills were maintained at 4½ a 4½ per cent. The applications for accommodation at the Bank consequently continue. Despue this less favorable feature, however, the funds retain remarkable steadines. Frices have only varied one-eighth per cent and close a shade better than yesterday. The fall in the corn market and the splendid wenther contribute materially to stimulate confidence. The funds also derive great suport from the steady investments of the public, who have absorbed the stock derived from the new lean even more resulty than the former heavest lesson.

The Times city article, dated, Friday evening, says:—

The Times city article, dated, Friday evening, says:-The English funds have been steady throughout the day at yesterday's prices, and the tendency to an im-proved tone was again observable, although the extent of the business was small. Money was, in some in-tances, the business was small. Money was, in some instances, obtainable in the discount market to-day at 4% per cent and there was a diministed demand at the Bank, as compared with yesterday. In the corn market this moreling sales could not have been pressed, except at a further decline, perhaps to the extent of its per qr. The final quotations of the French Three per Cents show another decline of nearly & per cent. Letters from Hamburg state that the reasewed demand for money continued to increase, and that the rate of discount had advanced to 8 per cent. At Paris there is great dollness and general absence of business. Meanwhile anxiety prevails as to the character of the present harvest.
